

NOT A CONSTITUTIONAL NUMBER.

The bill providing for a Constitutional Convention of fifty members is not Constitutional.

No one will deny that the Legislature is short fifteen members. This does not make the Legislature illegal, however.

It is in exactly the position of a body with a shortage caused by absentees, but with still a quorum remaining to transact business.

With this state of affairs before it, the Legislature should be careful to pass each important bill by 21 votes in the House and 11 in the Senate, which would be a Constitutional majority under the old apportionment.

Section 2 of Article 16 of the Constitution, provides that the delegates to a Constitutional Convention shall equal in number the Senators and Representatives of both Houses of the Legislature.

To be Constitutional the membership must be 60 instead of 50.

THE SILVER BALLOTS.

They Reach Washington, and are Objects of Special Interest.

Elector Bonfield writes to the Silver State from Washington, a letter from which the following is an extract:

"I met Lee Crandell, editor of the National View, this morning. He introduced me to several gentlemen, both silver men and gold bugs. Among them was Dr. Houghton of Connecticut, a brother-in-law of our mutual friend, Capt. C. B. Dahlgren. The Dr. piloted me to the office of H. E. Taubeneck, the chairman of the National Committee of the People's party. The Dr. is an ardent silver advocate and is engaged in organizing industrial leagues in his state. I presented the silver ballots to Mr. Taubeneck. He was delighted with them and will send his formal acknowledgment to the Nevada presidential electors. On the 22d day of February Generals Weaver and Field will be in attendance at the meeting of the National Bimetallic League. On that occasion Mr. Taubeneck will present to them formally for an in the name of the Silver party of Nevada a silver ballot each, as a souvenir of the first contest of the people against the plutocratic oligarchy of two continents.

The evening papers today mention the fact of Nevada's electoral vote being cast with solid silver ballots. A great many have called to see them.

I had the pleasure of meeting Sen. Kyle of Dakota, Senator Peffer of Kansas, and the indomitable Tom Watson of Georgia. The Georgian is all fire and vinegar and withal a most affable gentleman. He declares that the people of Georgia are with the People's party and will assert their rights at the next contest; that in the last election they were simply counted out by the most barefaced frauds.

There is a powerful lobby of gold bugs laboring to have the silver purchasing act of 1890 repealed this session without substituting anything in the interest of silver. They will succeed in the lower house, through the frowns and promises of Grover, the elect. Enough professed silver Democrats will fall down and with the aid of Republicans the act will be repealed by the House, but it will fail in the Senate. The Republican Senators with free coinage proclivities do not feel disposed to remove this question from Mr. Cleveland's pathway, for which he and his gold bug henchmen are working so ardently. The silver question, thanks to the Silver and People's party, is the great question now before congress and the country. It will not down. It can not be pulled down or bought off any more than the great Silver party of Nevada, Colorado or Idaho can hereafter be made to stultify those States and disgrace their names by affiliating with any party wearing the Wall Street collar.

The Carson correspondent of the Silver State, in sizing up the Nevada law makers, speaks thusly of our delegation: Massey of Elko is the orator of the house. Geo. Russell has never taken part as yet in a debate, but is recognized as one of the substantial members whose opinion given on the side is entitled to respectful consideration.
